Online participation in the Scenarios Forum 2022

The Scenarios Forum 2022 will use the IIASA Connect platform for online participation by on-site and remote participants.

Since we will have 7 parallel streams at the conference, even on-site participants will not be able to participate in most of the on-site sessions. Moreover, we are space constrained on-site and expect many online participants. We plan to organize activities on the online conference platform before and after conference, with the main aim to make remote participation as meaningful as possible. In doing so, we go beyond livestreaming the on-site activities, but provide an online platform for discussion and Q&A on each session, presentation, and poster. The planned online activities are the following:

- All presenters of oral presentation will be asked to record their presentation and upload this to the online conference platform before 1 June 2022
- All presenters of virtual posters and on-site posters, will post their virtual posters on the online conference platform before 1 June 2022
- Before the Scenarios Forum 2022
 - During the two weeks before the conference, between 7-17 June 2022, both remote and on-site participants can use the conference platform for the following activities:
 - Watch recordings of all presentations and the posters
 - Ask questions to the presenters
 - Discuss the topics of the sessions with the presenters and organizers.
 - Each session will indicate two days in the period 7-17 June, during which they will be active online and respond to discussions and questions.
- During the Scenarios Forum 2022:
 - For the on-site sessions, session organizers and presenters can discuss whether to adjust the content of their session based on the online discussions before the Scenarios Forum.
 - Plenary sessions and Research Sessions will be livestreamed on the conference platform and remote participants can ask questions (which will be brought into the on-site discussions by the session organizers)
 - Workshop sessions will be recorded and posted on the conference platform for online viewing afterwards. Additional written discussion can continue on the online platform.
- After the Scenarios Forum 2022:
 - At the end of the Summer 2022, we will organize an ICONICS Webinar with the main conclusions and next steps of the scenario process. This webinar will continue the discussions of the final plenary session, but with more input from the online participants and after on-site participants have had a chance to view the recordings of parallel sessions that they missed during the conference.
 - ICONICS plans to keep using the IIASA Connect platform for the ICONICS Community, to host webinars and facilitate discussions in the scenarios community.
